

Prayer calendar for July 2021, week 4

21st

Wars, COVID and natural disasters threaten many throughout the world and perhaps even the planet itself. We pray that we may find the right way to respond in our own lives.

22nd

We pray for all who are confused and anxious as restrictions ease and life still seems far from the normal they knew. May we be alert to their need and be prepared to reach out a helping hand.

23rd

We pray for the athletes competing in the Olympics due to start today in very strange situations. May all their hard work in preparing be worthwhile despite the continuing COVID threat and lack of spectators.

24th

Give thanks for all who care for our community and who give their time to create and tend the beautiful flower beds throughout our town which lift our hearts.

Sunday 25th

“Yet this I call to mind and have hope that because of the Lord’s great love we are not consumed, for his compassions never fail. They are new every morning and great is your faithfulness”.

26th

Our Church leaders ask us to continue to speak out against cuts in the international aid budget and proposals to reform the asylum system making it harder for people fleeing conflict or persecution to seek and find sanctuary.

27th

We hear of abuse of public servants and bad public behaviour as well as continued racism. We pray for courage to show a better example in our daily lives.
